Pacific Press® and 3ABN® share the untold story

Nampa, Idaho (September 22, 2015)

STONES OF REMEMBRANCE is a joint project between 3ABN® and Pacific Press® that features 13 authors sharing many incredible, personal stories. Using the concept found in Joshua 4:8, 9 of two altars: one highly visible, built in Gilgal and the other built in the middle of the river where it remained hidden under water, STONES OF REMEMBRANCE examines the untold stories of God's providence in the life of each author. Often these "unseen" stories shape the message and the passion that goes into the writing of their books.

"As a publisher, we know many of these back stories," says Doug Church, vice president of marketing and sales at Pacific Press®, "and they are remarkable examples of the dynamic way in which God interacts with His children. We're delighted to provide a platform for our authors to share their unique and often moving stories that would otherwise remain unknown and untold."

The program is hosted by Karen Pearson, director of publicity and public relations at Pacific Press® and Pierre Quinn, a pastor, speaker, and author who works for the South Central Conference with churches in Bowling Green, Hopkinsville, and Paducah, Kentucky. Some of the authors interviewed include Darold Bigger, Michael Kulakov, Tamyra Horst, Karl Haffner, and Jerry D. Thomas.

STONES OF REMEMBRANCE airs on 3ABN® at the following times:

Wednesday, 10:30 pm CDT
Sunday, 9:00 am CDT
Tuesday, 2:00 am CDT

Karen Pearson and Pierre Quinn on the 3ABN set.

By nature, we are curious to hear the 'untold stories' and this series is all about those hidden reasons that compel authors to share their experiences and insight. They all give honor to our Lord - the true source of inspiration and wisdom!
