Marvin Moore to train laymen on how to present end-time events

Nampa, Idaho (January 18, 2001) - Marvin Moore, the editor of Signs of the Times, will be one of the presenters at a 3ABN school of media evangelism March 18 to 30 that will train Adventist laymen how to conduct radio and television evangelism. The training session will be conducted at 3ABN's headquarters in West Frankfort, Illinois.

Elder Moore will lead out in eight sessions March 19 to 22. His topic will be how to present end-time events in an evangelistic setting. Among the issues he will present are how to discuss signs of the end in light of current events, how to respond to the rapture deception, how to present Adventist views about Catholics, and how to explain the close of probation.
