Special Issues of Signs of the Times® Share Basics of Salvation and Fundamental Beliefs

Nampa, Idaho (October 1, 2007) — Signs of the Times® and Pacific Press® have released a special issue of Signs, called Certainty In An Uncertain World, for sharing the plan of salvation with non-Adventists.

Written by Mark Finley, Certainty In An Uncertain World, is a compelling 64-page, sharing magazine designed to present the basics of salvation in a contemporary context. It includes information on how to obtain free Bible study guides, and will be used by Finley at the NET 2008 evangelistic meetings.

In Certainty In An Uncertain World, Finley uses present-day news stories to capture interest and illustrate his points. He presents the basics of the plan of salvation in practical, yet easy to understand articles. Finley says, "I have written this for seekers—those searching for deeper meaning in their lives. Some may be Christians who are unsatisfied with the status quo, and long for more. Others may not be Christians, but want to explore the basics of Bible truth. This sharing magazine is for them."
