Ty Gibson Pursues A God Named Desire

Nampa, Idaho (June 3, 2010) — Pacific Press® has released Ty Gibson's latest book: A God Named Desire. Gibson observes, "Our hearts are fueled by yearnings for connection, for relationship, for a sense of belonging." Few will question the validity of this statement which was borne out in a recent study conducted by Princeton Survey Research Associates International.

The study, conducted on a national sample of 800 teens and their parents, found the primary way teens connect with one another is via text messaging, with half of teens sending 1,500 texts a month, and one in three sending more than 100 a day.

Regardless of age, we all desire to connect with others. Jerry D. Thomas, vice president for product development at Pacific Press® states, "We are human beings engineered for love, and Ty introduces us to the God who did the engineering: a God who is love and who wants more than anything for us to be happy. Come along on this journey and find the God you've been looking for—the God who has been looking for you."

Ty Gibson, Associate Director/Speaker for Light Bearers Ministry, co-hosts the 3ABN television series, A Closer Look at Revelation and Lift Him Up. He has authored five books, including the best-seller, An Endless Falling in Love, published by Pacific Press®. A God Named Desire is available at any local Adventist Book Center®, or by calling (800) 765-6955. It is also available online at www.AdventistBookCenter.com.
