Wishing Judy Chinchurreta a Happy Retirement!

by Ken Pline

Judy Chinchurreta is retiring from the PPPA Finance Department on June 30 after 23 years of service.

Judy started as my secretary in June, 1998 and later advanced to Jr. Accountant. I would joke with Judy that she had big shoes to fill. Not only was she replacing Virginia Lee who had set the bar very high, but Judy's daughter Chelle worked for me as a student worker at Gem State and was incredible.

I quickly learned that Judy and her daughter had many things in common. One of the more notable traits was their love of music. I would quite often hear Judy singing or humming as she did her work and I was always so impressed with how friendly she was with everyone.

Over the years Judy and Dot became good friends. I won't mention the time Ross Lauterbach (CFO) told their walking group to limit the group to two people. The very next day I noticed Judy, Dot, and a third person walking together. We will skip the details of the follow-up conversation but that is when they became a two-person walking team for years to come. Judy loved telling Dot that she couldn't retire until Judy was also old enough to join her in retirement. When Dot retired at the end of 2007 it appeared that Judy would not get her wish.

However, Dot continued to work part-time and here we are 14 years later. Judy is retiring. Dot is still working. Does this seem fair?

We are going to miss you Judy! When you work with someone for 23 years they become like family. It is also scary because when a person does a job for this long they do many things that go unnoticed. When they leave, little things start popping up everywhere. This is when you realize, "I bet Judy did that". Like so many times in life we often don't notice or appreciate the little things a person does until they are not around. I have no doubt I will discover many things where I failed to show Judy the proper appreciation.

Judy, you are one of the kindest, friendliest, and most caring people I know. It has been an absolute privilege and pleasure working with you the past 23 years!! We look forward to having you stop by with your "retiree" badge and hear you share the glorious details of retirement!

May God bless you in your retirement.
