Miracles Around Us

by Chris Alexander & Eric Petersen

Chris:

A couple of weeks ago I put out a plea to my prayer warriors. The bailer on the press was down and they were printing Desire of Ages. We got the tech in early Monday, while were in Chapel, and by 8:30 a.m. the press was up and running. We were able to finish the Desire of Ages ASI books and move on the Steps to Christ. The boxes for this job were not here yet, and I was panicked, but the morning of the day that I needed them they were delivered.

There are daily things that happen to let me know that God is not done here and that the battle to keep the gospel from getting delivered is strong. So please, keep the faith, keep believing and keep praying for what we do here. We are blessed!

Eric:

After worship on November 9, a small group of us were discussing all the trouble and issues Elda Rosas (Finishing) was having with the print heads of the firm-pack. I went straight to Gene (Plant Services) to see how quickly we could get a technician here to work on it. It wasn't but a few minutes later that we found out the technician was actually in town. The word that instantly popped into my head was "providence." What are the chances that this guy from Kentucky would be in town when we were desperate for help? We believe it wasn't chance.

"Can you discover the depths of God?
Can you discover the limits of the Almighty?
"They are high as the heavens, what can you do?
Deeper than Sheol, what can you know?
"Its measure is longer than the earth
And broader than the sea.

Employee News: Congratulations Megan Yoshioka!

by Laura Samano

During the most recent annual convention of the Society of Adventist Communicators, Megan Yoshioka (Product Development) was awarded the Student Award for outstanding leadership and journalism as editor-in-chief of Southern Adventist University's school newspaper, Southern Accent. She was commended for her excellence in reporting, writing, management, and copyediting.

A 2022 mass communication major with an emphasis in writing and editing, Megan served as editor-in-chief of the student-run Southern Accent during the 2021-2022 school year. During that time, she led a team of more than 20 people—including reporters, photographers, copyeditors and layout designers—in producing a robust weekly newspaper that covered not only campus news but that of the greater Collegedale community.

In addition to managing her staff, Megan also wrote various stories for the publication, which now has a significant presence and following on social media.

Throughout her year as editor-in-chief, Megan developed sources within the Collegedale Police Department and the wider community, which led to news stories that were followed by other media outlets. She helped enhance the Accent's reputation as a trusted news source within the Collegedale area, always exhibiting professionalism and journalistic integrity.

In addition to her work at the Accent, Megan also covered 2022 General Conference meetings for Spectrum Magazine. She is now a copyeditor and proofreader at Pacific Press.

“Megan exemplifies student journalism at its best. Therefore, I am pleased to nominate Megan for the 2022 SAC Student Award. I believe she is the ideal candidate,” said Professor Alva Johnson, associate professor of Southern Adventist University's Journalism and School of Journalism and Communication at Southern Adventist University.

Congratulations Megan!

Christmas Party

by Social Committee

A reminder that the deadline for your Christmas party RSVP is coming up next week, on Monday, November 21.

You can respond to Gina Duncan by email, by phone (ext. 2503), in person, or by using the form you received a couple of weeks ago.

If you've already let us know about your plans, we thank you, and you don't need to do anything more. If you haven't responded yet, please take a moment to do that soon. It's really helpful for planning if you can send your response either way, whether or not you plan to attend.

So thanks a bunch for your R.S.V.P. and we hope to see you there!
