New Faces in the Finishing Department

We have a few new faces around the building! We'll try to introduce some of them each week.

Here are two new employees in the Finishing Department:

Makayla Creitz joined Pacific Press in June of this year. Makayla is an Idaho native and lives in Caldwell with her parents and younger sister.

In her spare time, she loves to read poetry. She also said she likes binding books and is very happy to be working here at Pacific Press.

Jeremy Jones joined our PPPA community at the end of May this year.

Jeremy shared with us that he carpools with a coworker every day and they drive 70 miles one way to get here each day!!

Jeremy enjoys working here at Pacific Press and he believes it has changed his life.

He has two dogs, Merle and Hank, and loves them very much. He is very happy with his life as it is right now.

Welcome Makayla and Jeremy! We are very happy you've joined our Pacific Press family.

Product Development Department Enjoys Picnic

by Olga Valdivia

Nothing says summertime quite like an outdoor picnic. And that's exactly what the Editorial Department were up back on Sunday, July 16th.

Boise may have hit 108 degrees, but under the trees it was pure delight!

Camaraderie, good food and a game or two of croquet made all the difference!
